David Dyke
Vice President, Product Management and Business Development
RelayHealth Financial

In his role as Vice President of Product Management and Business Development for RelayHealth Financial, David Dyke applies expertise gained over more than 18 years' experience across many areas of the healthcare revenue cycle and receivables management. He is passionate about helping hospitals, practices and specialty providers realize their financial potential while boosting patient satisfaction.

A frequent and engaging speaker at healthcare finance industry events, David is an articulate advocate for the use of analytics in revenue cycle management. Before transitioning to his current role with RelayHealth, he architected and managed many of the company's web-based revenue cycle solutions, which continue to empower health systems across the country.

Prior to RelayHealth, David held senior product management positions with NDCHealth and Per-Se Technologies. He earned his BA from Northeastern State University.

Carmen Sessoms
AVP, Product Management, RelayAssurance Plus
RelayHealth Financial

With over 20 years of progressive strategic leadership and healthcare experience in product management, business development, strategic planning and consulting, Carmen Sessoms has worked with all organizational levels in the ambulatory and acute care markets for patient access and reimbursement.

Prior to joining RelayHealth, Carmen was the regional vice president of operations for an outsourcing firm, where she led the eligibility side of the business and was instrumental in many process improvements that brought efficiencies to the company, its provider customers and their patients. Additionally, she has 10 years' previous experience with McKesson in Product Management roles in which she directed projects related to the design and development of revenue cycle solutions, including initiatives with internal and external partners.

Carmen is a past president of the Georgia HFMA chapter, a recipient of HFMA's Medal of Honor, and holds the designations of CHFP (Certified Healthcare Financial Professional) and FHFMA (Fellow in HFMA).

Carmen received her undergraduate degree and MBA from Mercer University.
