

2022 Market Review Executive Summary

Woman and Minority-Owned Private Equity and Venture Capital Firms

In 2022, Fairview found that the universe of woman and minority-owned firms grew to 760 firms, up from 627 firms in 2021. Fairview observed a record 346 woman and minority-owned firms in the market raising capital during the year, up from 280 firms in 2021. The growth within the diverse manager community continued despite the significant economic volatility and uncertainty present throughout most of the year. Despite continued growth, woman and minority-owned firms targeted just 6% of the capital targeted by the private equity industry in 2022, unchanged from 2021.

Based on the data in this report, it is clear that the opportunity set of diverse firms is significant and dynamic. In addition to broader data and market characteristics, we also share breakouts of our data by ethnicity and gender, as well as more data on the multiplier effect that occurs organically as a result of diverse managers being more inclusive of diverse founders and portfolio company leadership.

About This Report:

Fairview has published its Market Review of Woman and Minority-Owned Private Equity and Venture Capital Firms annually since 2014. We have actively invested with diverse managers in partnership with many of the nation's leading institutional investors for nearly 30 years. As a leader in the category, we aspire to see every institutional quality woman and minority-owned firm in the market every year. As a result, we believe we have built the most comprehensive database of diverse managers in the country. In this Market Review, we only consider institutional quality private equity and venture capital firms that are majority-owned (>50%) by women and/or ethnic minorities. The firms must also be based in, and primarily investing in, the United States. In a market that can often be opaque, reliable data on the diverse manager market is often difficult to access. We believe that the data shared in this Market Review can continue to serve as a valuable tool to investors seeking to invest with diverse managers meaningfully.
