Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The following presentation includes certain “non-GAAP financial measures” as defined in Regulation G under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Reconciliations of each of the non-GAAP financial measures to the most directly comparable GAAP measure are included in the appendix attached hereto, except for forward-looking measures where a reconciliation to the corresponding GAAP measures is not available due to the variability, complexity and limited visibility of the items that are excluded from the non-GAAP outlook measures.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Global Payments supplements revenues, income, operating income, operating margin, earnings per share (EPS) and net operating cash flows determined in accordance with U.S. GAAP by providing these measures with certain adjustments (such measures being non-GAAP financial measures) in this document to assist with evaluating our performance. In addition to GAAP measures, management uses these non-GAAP financial measures to focus on the factors the company believes are pertinent to the daily management of our operations. Management believes adjusted net revenue more closely reflects the economic benefits to the company's core business and allows for better comparisons with industry peers. Management uses these non-GAAP financial measures, together with other metrics, to set goals for and measure the performance of the business and to determine incentive compensation. Adjusted net revenue, adjusted operating income, adjusted operating margin, adjusted net income, adjusted EPS and adjusted free cash flow should be considered in addition to, and not as substitutes for, revenues, operating income, net income, earnings per share and net operating cash flow determined in accordance with GAAP. The non-GAAP financial measures reflect management's judgment of particular items, and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies.

Adjusted net revenue excludes gross-up related payments associated with certain lines of business to reflect economic benefits to the company. On a GAAP basis, these payments are presented gross in both revenues and operating expenses.

Adjusted operating income, adjusted net income and adjusted EPS exclude acquisition-related amortization expense, share-based compensation expense, acquisition, integration and separation expense, and gain or losses on business dispositions, and certain other items specific to each reporting period as more fully described in the accompanying reconciliations. Adjusted operating margin is derived by dividing adjusted operating income by adjusted net revenue.

The constant currency growth measures adjust for the impact of exchange rates and are calculated using average exchange rates during the comparable period in the prior year. The tax rate used in determining the income tax impact of earnings adjustments is either the jurisdictional statutory rate in effect at the time of the adjustment or the jurisdictional expected annual effective tax rate for the period, depending on the nature and timing of the adjustment.

Management believes adjusted free cash flow is a useful measure of the company's ability to service debt, return capital to shareholders, invest in the business and demonstrate value creation of our underlying operations. Adjusted free cash flow, a non-GAAP measure, is calculated as net operating cash flows, excluding the impact of settlement processing assets and obligations and customer/client deposits, plus acquisition, integration and separation expenses, less capital expenditures and distributions to non-controlling interests. Our measure of adjusted free cash flow reflects management's judgment of particular items and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. We are not able to reconcile adjusted free cash flow to our projections for the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures without unreasonable efforts due to the complexity, variability and nature of these estimates.
